FRIDAY

7 P.M. "EVEREST THE HARD WAY"

Ed Webster, renowned mountaineer

In 1988, Ed Webster and three companions attempted the impossible—to scale a new route up the east, or Kangshung Face, of Mt. Everest in Tibet with only four climbers, no Sherpa support, no bottled oxygen and no radios.

The fact that Ed and his companions succeeded in completing this exceptional climb and Ed's partner, Stephen Venables, became the first Briton to ascend Everest without bottled oxygen is a testimony to both the human spirit and some remarkable teamwork. Join us for a memorable evening as Ed recounts his legendary expedition with stunning photographs and stories that will keep you on the edge of your seat. This is the show you do not want to miss!
